ASLEEP AT THE SWITCH

... is an ancient railroad term describing someone who has let something pass him by. Well, believe you me, some weeks that term could well apply to the newspaper field and especially this absent-minded editor.

This past week was a case in point. We absolutely failed to write a story about Manuel Reyes being hit and killed by a car on Highway 90. Then we also did not mention the fact that right after the football game Friday night the north blew in and blew some object into the plateglass window at Ben Franklin's, just shattering glass all over the place.

Although we might not have been completely asleep at the switch, we definitely were nodding at the typewriter.

Oh, yes there were other stories not in the paper, but the lack of space dictated that they remain on the ready board. And speaking on this subject, I'll gladly let anyone who wants to come in on Wednesday morning and decide which stories go or stay out--providing of course whoever it is will let me inform the public who made the decision.

REVENUE SHARING

... if it comes through in the amount published last week, certainly provides the City of Hondo with a golden opportunity to complete a project discussed here many times, the Hondo City Park.

In a Saturday morning talk with City Councilman G. P. Chapman, who has pushed hard on the proposition to enlarge the park so that it will serve more people, I mentioned the $16,500 the city might get from Revenue Sharing would be just right to do a complete job on the park. It has been estimated the entire project, including a small lake at the west end, would cost about $15,000.

"You can be sure that very suggestion will be made at Tuesday night's Council meeting," Chapman said.

I hope it was not only made, but approved. (I word this in this manner since I am writing this column on Sunday).

I would also hope the Council definitely will obtain the help of the Parks and Wildlife Department in designing the park. For in later years we might seek some financial help from that department and if the park is not built to their design they might be reluctant to pay part of the bill. I believe Rep. John Poerner can be extremely helpful in obtaining this cooperation from that department.

Recreation definitely is one of the areas in which Revenue Sharing money can be spent, and the park project would help everyone and at the same time provide a strong impact on how the money benefits the public.

HONDO AIRBASE REUNION

... plans went off as expected, I guess. There were stories in the San Antonio newspapers about the event, but I have not talked to anyone from here who attended.

But in the last several weeks Hondo has had some visitors who came from long distances to "visit again the Airbase and see how the town was doing."

Two of these were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Walsh from Deposit, New York. The Walshes have especially fond memories of Hondo Airbase, for they were married in one of the chapels there back in 1942.

The day before the New York couple were shown around town by Harry Filleman, Mr. and Mrs. Emmert Steen, Rural Route 1, Elkhorn, Iowa, also dropped by for a return visit. He was stationed here for 36 months

These three churches have served the religious needs of D'Hanis since the mid-1800's. The first permanent D'Hanis church, St. Dominic's at left, was in use beginning in 1855. It was enlarged in 1868, and served until 1916, when Holy Cross Church (center) was constructed. Following a disastrous fire in 1963, the new Holy Cross Church (right) was built. A Historical Marker will be dedicated in special Sunday morning ceremonies on the grounds of old St. Dominic's. Guest of Honor will be Rev. Frank Kilday, O.M.I., (photo at left) who was baptized in the old church on March 9, 1902.

125th Anniversary

St. Dominic's Mass set for Sunday, October 15

OLD D'HANIS--The general public is invited to the civic and religious observance of the 125th Parish Anniversary to be held Sunday on the grounds of the ruins of St. Dominic's Church in this small community.

At 9:45 a.m., a Rosary in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary will be led by Bonnard Rothe, president of the local St. Joseph's Society. At 10 a.m. the entrance procession will be led by Ed. S. Koch

(a former altar boy at Old St. Dominic's and now 90 years old) as cross-bearer, escorted by acolytes, Alan Huser and David Villarreal; and the enthronement of the Holy Bible will be performed by Sister Anne Schmidtzyński, CDP, Sister Andrew Wolf, CDP, and Sister Flora Hruzek, CDP.

Singing of the hymn "Faith of Our Fathers" will be led by Mrs. Josie R. Finger.

Donna Boehme Chicago bound

Donna Boehme, an 18-year-old Medina County 4-H'er, has been named state winner in the Food-Nutrition program.

As a result, she has won an all-expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30. The trip is sponsored by General Foods Corp. Her recordbook will compete with winners from other states for six $700 educational scholarships also provided by General Foods.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Boehme of Rio Medina, she is a freshman physical therapy major at Texas A&M University.

During nine years of 4-H work, Donna participated in projects including foods and nutrition, food show, clothing, dress revue, leadership, livestock and safety. This year she was involved in teaching basic food skills to children whose parents were receiving donated foods.

This is not the first time she has been in the winner's circle. As the fruit and vegetable division winner in the 1972 State 4-H Food Show, this 4-H'er received a $500 scholarship. In addition, she showed grand champion calves at the 1966 and 1967 county stock shows and has won numerous awards at the local, county and district levels.

Donna was a Medina County 4-H Council officer for three years and served in several offices of the Rio Medina 4-H Club. In addition, she has attended district and state leadership labs.

Active in community and school functions as well as 4-H, Donna is a member and officer of the C.Y.O. While in high school at Medina Valley High School, she was assistant editor of the annual, secretary of her junior and senior classes and vice-president of the National Honor Society.

DONNA BOEHME

Low Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated by the Very Rev. Victor G. Schmidtzyński, V.F., Pastor of Holy Cross Church, D'Hanis, upon an altar decorated with flowers by the Altar Society, of which Mrs. Herman Fohn is president. Guest of honor for the Mass will be the Rev. Francis Alexander Kilday, O.M.I., associate pastor of St. Mary's Church, San Antonio, who was baptized in old St. Dominic's Church in 1902, when Sabinal where he was born, was a mission of D'Hanis.

Lectors will be State Representative John Henry Poerner, a former parishioner and a graduate of D'Hanis High School; Raymond Nester, chairman of the lectors; and Espritidon Reyna in Spanish.

The ushers will be Commissioner Charles B. Langfeld, Herman Fohn, Matt Koch, Jr. and Chaon Alvaraz, with David Trevino, president of the Caballeros de San Jose in charge.

Father Kilday will deliver a short address, following which will be the offertory, with officers of the Parish CYO as bearers of the gifts, headed by Bobby Joe Rothe, president; Doris Marie Koch, vice-president; Mary Alice Nester, treasurer and Gail Rothe, secretary. The offertory hymn, "Immaculate Mary" will be sung by the congregation.

Communion will be distributed by Father Kilday and by Father Victor, with the singing of the Communion hymn "Bendito sea Dios" in Spanish, to the accompaniment of Louis Cortez, guitarist, Jose Varela, director. The congregation will sing the closing hymn "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name".

At 10:45 a.m. the Texas Historical Marker will be unveiled in ceremonies conducted by Mrs. Finger, chairman of Medina County Historical Survey Committee, and State Rep. Poerner, John A. Batot, descendant of one of the first families in the settlement of D'Hanis, will pull the unveiling cord. Batot will be 90 years old. After the unveiling the assembly will sing "The Eyes of Texas".

A booklet titled "History of St. Dominic's Church, 1847-1912", will be available; and memorabilia, such as old rosaries, bibles, prayer books, from the immigrant settlers, will be on display in the parish hall of Holy Cross Church in D'Hanis. The display will be in charge of Miss Connie Koch, Mrs. Al-

Panthers to roar in Owl land

If it's not Super Sunday or even the Cotton Bowl, tomorrow's game here on Barry Field promises to be the biggest shootout in about a year, as the Angry Orange of Medina Valley clashes with the Blue at 8 p.m.

The old rivals are at it again. The stage is set just as it has been many times before, with both teams sporting winning records and title hopes.

This year there are a few differences, though. Medina Valley has the better non-district record of the two, with an undefeated season so far. Hondo has the consolation of knowing their only loss was to a fairly classy team (Uvalde, still top-rated among state AAA teams). Hondo has the advantage of already posting a district win, while the Panthers were idle last week.

Another difference is in the size of the Panthers this year. Well known in the past for a team of big boys, Coach Gene Schwinge opted this year for medium weight, but exceptional quickness.

That team quickness has been the secret of some victories for the Panthers this year. With it, they've developed an effective option play, which senior quarterback Glynn Tschirhart runs well, balanced with a passing attack.

Tickets in Castroville sold quickly, so there won't be much chance of an empty visitor's grandstand this week. Who knows? They may even bring their orange sportcoats.

Coach James Bohls announces that the Owls will be healthy Friday night, with all injuries and bruises healed. Brian Finger is expected to be all right, after being injured in last week's game with Comilla. "It should be a good game," Bohls observes. He's right.

Teachers to hear Lee Hicks

A representative of the Texas State Teachers Association will present the program at the Medina County Unit of TSTA at 7 p.m. October 16 at the McDowell School Cafeteria.

Lee Hicks will speak on "Texas State Teachers Association--National Education Association Concerns".

Hicks, assistant director for Human Relations for TSTA, attended St. Phillip's Junior College in San Antonio. He later earned a bachelor's degree from Huston-Tillotson College in Austin, graduating with honors. He has done graduate work at Texas Southern University, University of Southern California, Howard University and the University of Texas at Austin.

Fire Prevention Week is time to write big check

It's Fire Prevention Week and everyone is urged to focus attention on the tragedies, the damages, the costs that fire can cause.

But let's not maintain that focus only one week during the year. Here in Hondo fires have caused much damage over the past 12 months. Fortunately there have been no deaths, but in Texas 342 persons died by fire this past year.

Fire prevention is a habit not a once-a-year thought.

It's a good habit to form. Get hooked on preventing fires. Get hooked on helping the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department provide protection that will insure safety, minimize damage, and cut costs.

To provide this service, even on a voluntary basis, costs money. It costs a lot of money to operate a Volunteer Fire Department. But... not near as much as it would to pay for a fully-manned department with everyone on a salary.

Hondo Volunteer Fire Department officials at this time each year mail out some 2200 postcards inviting residents and business people to contribute to the operational expense of the department.

Those cards will be going out soon. So while we are focusing our attention on Fire Prevention Week there is no better way to show our concern than by writing a generous check to the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department. It might save a home-- YOURS.

Learning about fire prevention

Members of the Strunk-Duncan Kindergarten took time out Monday to learn about fire prevention and how their daddies, relatives, friends and other Hondo residents spend their time protecting the city and area against the ravages of fire. They visited the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department and, as can be seen here in this photograph by Anvil Herald staffer Joe Fohn, gave the equipment close inspection. They even took a ride on the big red fire engine. This visit and the discussions they have in class just might give them knowledge enough about fire prevention that they can go home and give their parents a pointer or two.

Learn All The Issues

Voters expend a great deal of time and energy becoming familiar with political candidates and the important campaign issues. However, when Nov. 7 rolls around and they go to the polls to cast their ballot, they often find constitutional amendments for the Texas constitution on that ballot. For the most part voters are unprepared to intelligently vote on these issues.

Fourteen such amendments will appear on the 1972 general election ballot. For the past several weeks the complete texts of Amendments 6, 7, 8, 10, 12, 13 and 14 have been carried in The Enterprise. To assist all voters in forming opinions on these important amendments The Enterprise will run a brief resume of all amendments in the Aug. 31 and Nov. 2 editions with more detailed arguments both pro and con during the ensuing weeks.

Amendment No. 1 would amend Article III, Section 24, to provide annual salaries of $8,400 for members of the senate and the house of representatives. Current salary for legislators is $4,800 annually.

Amendment No. 2 would amend Article IX, Section 6, to abolish the Lamar County Hospital District. This proposal was submitted by its legislative author at the request of the Lamar County Commissioners Court and because of its purely local character no arguments either for or against have been presented.

Amendment No. 3 would amend Article XVI, Section 61, to require the commissioners courts in all counties of the state to compensate all justices of the peace on a salary basis rather than a fee basis beginning Jan. 1, 1973.

Amendment No. 4 would grant authority to the legislature to establish a constitutional revision commission which would report its recommendations no later than Nov. 1, 1973, and providing that members of the 63rd Legislature would then be convened in January 1974 as a constitutional convention to serve 60 days for the purpose of drafting a new constitution for submission to the voters of Texas. The Texas Constitution does not contain a provision providing for thorough revision as do most state constitutions, and in its 95-year history the instrument has been amended over 200 times.

Amendment No. 5 would amend Article VIII, Section 2, to relate to a tax exemption on certain property owned by a disabled veteran to provide exemptions, which would range from $1,500 to $3,000, be made on a graduated scale based on the percentage of the veteran's disability.

Amendment No. 6 would amend Article VIII, Section 1-b, to provide that the various political subdivisions of the state may exempt not less than $3,000 of the value of residence homesteads of all persons 65 years of age or older from ad valorem taxes under certain conditions.

Amendment No. 7 would amend Article I to add a new Section 3a to provide that equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of a person's sex, race, color, creed or national origin.

Amendment No. 8 would amend Article IV, Sections 4, 22 and 23, to provide four-year terms for the offices of governor, lieutenant-governor, attorney general, comptroller of public accounts, treasurer, commissioner of the general land office and certain statutory state officers.

Amendment No. 9 would amend Article XVI, Sections 33 and 40, of the Texas Constitution to exempt directors of soil and water conservation districts from prohibitions against dual office-holding and dual compensation.

Amendment No. 10 would amend Article XVII, Section 1, to revise provisions on the time of proposing amendments to the state constitution and the time and method of publishing notice of proposed amendments.

Amendment No. 11 would amend Article IV, Section 17, to add a new Section 24a to Article III to provide a salary of $22,500 for the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the House of Representatives.

Amendment No. 12 would amend Article XVI Sections 33 and 40, to allow state employees and certain other persons to serve on governing bodies of school districts, cities, towns or other governmental districts without forfeiting their state salary and otherwise to revise generally the restrictions on dual office-holding and dual compensation.

Amendment No. 13 to increase the maximum interest rate which may be borne by certain bonds issued under constitutional authority by adding a new Section 65 to Article III.

Amendment No. 14 would amend Article VII to permit the commissioners court of a county to reduce the county permanent school fund and to provide for the per scholastic distribution and use of the money obtained from this reduction by adding a new Section 6b.

I wasn't watching anything... I was reading my paper... at my own pace... selecting what I wanted to read... hopefully without further interruption.

In the interest of becoming a more informed citizen, the following interview is presented:

The Honorable Jerome Decker has held the position of County Judge since December of 1970, when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Judge Jim Duncan.

Judge Decker was, at that time, Mayor of the City of Hondo. He also owns a retail grocery store and a ranch north of Hondo. In January, 1971, he took office as the duly elected County Judge. The County Judge draws a salary of $8,287 per year (old scale) which is $100 more than the remaining elected officials receive. This is because the County Judge also serves as the Juvenile Judge. Medina County has an official population count of 20,242 with Devine having over 3,000 residents and Hondo having more than 6,000.

Judge Decker says, "I

Mini-view given on County politics by Natalia writer

By Ethel Thammisch of Natalia

Politics and politicians are in the public eye, at this time of year. The general public, which has remained unconcerned for the past four years, begins to wake up and look around to see what's going on in the political scene.

Sometime between the Democratic National Convention and election day in November, John Q. Public's attention may filter down to local politics. He may begin to wonder how and by whom he is represented on the County level.

What are the County offices, who fills them, and where do they live? Are they all from the other side of the county? Why don't we have any county officials from this precinct, other than the required commissioner? Let's see, there's Sheriff Hitzfeld from Hondo, and the Tax Collector, Alfred Rohrbach who also lives over there. Oh, yes! We have a newly elected County Attorney, Allen Lee, from Devine and there's Francis Bohl, the District Clerk, who lives out at Black Creek.

"One possible reason for the County officials coming from Hondo is that it wouldn't be practical to relocate. I have to be on call twenty-four hours a day. Anytime of the day or night I must be available to read the rights act to prisoners, set bond for prisoners where admissible, and help in the extradition of out of state prisoners. In the absence of the Justice of the Peace, I must act as coroner. Juveniles are the exclusive property of the County Judge. So, in order to hold the job, it is much more convenient to be a resident of Hondo. However, there are other county officials such as the Tax Collector and County Clerk who work regular office hours."

Judge Decker also states, "Another reason that it is difficult for residents of other towns to hold a County position is the low salary. We have kept salaries low in order to keep taxes low. The elected officials usually depend on sources of income other than the County Office. It would be difficult to hold two jobs in towns 20 or more miles apart, and it's economically impossible to relocate in many cases. We also know that the County Seat carries some weight in elections."

These facts, though interesting, do not totally answer the question, Judge Decker feels that there are qualified and capable candidates from the Devine-Natalia area, but none of them seem inclined to run for County office. I don't know the reason, perhaps lack of civic pride. Nevertheless, it is politically expedient that all areas of the County be equally represented and their interests should be taken into consideration. Lack of civic pride and public spirit among our citizens says, in effect, "we have little interest in County government. It's too minor to bother with." The undisputed fact remains that "we should plow our own fields first".

Natalia are the largest in the county. Devine has three voting precincts while Hondo has four. However, the rural population in the Devine-Natalia area is greater than in the Hondo area, where larger farms prevail.

VOTER REGISTRATION

HIGH--Voter registration for the November 7 general election ended at midnight Saturday, with indications the total number of Texans eligible may reach a record 4.8 million.

At that, however, the total percentage of eligible voting age Texans may be less than 1968 and 1970.

There are now about 7.5 million Texans of voting age. The expected 4.5 million would represent a 60 percent showing. A 4 million registration in 1968 and a 4.1 million figure in 1970 amounted to about 64 percent of the eligible population.

An estimated 660,000 voters have been added to rolls since the voting age was lowered. There are an estimated 1.5 million now eligible to vote who were not eligible in the 1968 presidential election.

I am further concerned that the legislation commits the federal government to the proposed distribution for five years. I know that state and city officials are now preparing their budgets, and that long-range planning is sensible, but I cannot favor a five-year plan that makes commitments which may prove invalid in operation.

Formula Involved

The distribution of money is based on elaborate formulas. In the early days of debate, I had one major objection that now has largely been met. The House Ways and Means Committee gave heavy weight to what it called "tax effort" by indi-

OLD WAR BUDDIES

... of mine had better run the other way when they think I am going to look them up. I'm a jinx. In fact I might be the proverbial "kiss of death".

In England during World War II, the war where the two finger salute meant victory, I had two friends who shared a small room in our barracks. They were Paul Menzer of Washington, D.C. and Ben Jensen of Snoqualmie, Washington.

Sometime early in 1954 or 1955 I regained contact with Menzer and set up a visit to his new home in Pennsylvania. Three days before I was to go, I received a letter from a neighbor saying he had died of a heart attack.

This past summer on our vacation to the Northwest we stopped in Snoqualmie, Washington to see if Jensen still lived there. He had moved to Coulee City, Washington I discovered when I talked to his sister.

So I wrote him a Hondo postcard saying how I would like to have seen him and how beautiful I thought his country is.

Tuesday of this week, I received a letter from his daughter in Spokane, Washington telling me that only a few days after receiving my card her father died of a heart attack.

Come to think of it I don't know where any other old buddies live. And it might just be better for them that I don't.

Washington report

Kazen views revenue sharing

I want to clarify my opposition to the present federal revenue sharing bill, one of the most complicated and controversial legislative proposals to come before the 92nd Congress.

First let me say that some good salesman must have thought up the name of "revenue sharing". In general, it is taken to mean that the federal government will return a major portion of the taxes it has collected to the states and to local units of government. I have often said that taxes, regardless of the government agency that assesses them, all come from the same source - the citizen's pocketbook. I believe it is governmentally sound for the government that uses the money should have the responsibility for raising it. Much as I respect our state and local officials, I am not prepared to take the blame for high taxes if the Congress is not going to be responsible for how those taxes are used.

What Kind of Sharing?

My even greater concern is over the legislation's methods of sharing revenues. I know it's a complicated problem; we worked hard on it in the House of Representatives. The Senate labored, too, and came up with a different plan for distribution. The two plans went to a conference committee, which developed a third plan. I am not convinced that any of these plans are fair to the State of Texas or our local governments.

I am further concerned that the legislation commits the federal government to the proposed distribution for five years. I know that state and city officials are now preparing their budgets, and that long-range planning is sensible, but I cannot favor a five-year plan that makes commitments which may prove invalid in operation.

Formula Involved

The distribution of money is based on elaborate formulas. In the early days of debate, I had one major objection that now has largely been met. The House Ways and Means Committee gave heavy weight to what it called "tax effort" by individual states. This meant that Texas rated 50th among the states in money to be shared, largely because we have no state income tax. I felt that our citizens had long shown opposition to such a tax, choosing other methods of raising money, and that it was improper for Washington to, in effect, dictate that Texas should have a personal income tax.

The conference report reduced the emphasis on this factor, but did not eliminate it entirely. It graded states as well as cities on "relative effort" to raise needed funds, and also included an evaluation of comparative income of residents. This means that the formula provides considerable variation in amounts going to counties or cities of approximately equal population, with poorer areas getting more help.

See Efficiency Penalized

My objection to this attitude is that the efficient city or county government, that has planned carefully on what taxes it would raise and how it would spend its money, would be penalized. The less efficient unit of government would show greater need, and therefore get more federal money.

In summary, I am not ready to believe that tax users should not be tax collectors, though I am interested in changes that would consolidate tax collecting for reasons of economy. Even more important, I think, is that the formula for distribution should be as fair as possible. I am not convinced that has been achieved, and I don't see locking the federal government into an innovation for five years at a cost of $30 billion before the experiment has been tried.

One final point: the money would come from the taxpayers. It's not a general handout, and there are restrictions on its use so that it would not mean an automatic increase in public services. If taxpayers demand less services from their governmental units, taxes can be cut, but I know of no other way to achieve that worthwhile goal.

Hondoon killed in mishap

A Hondo man was killed shortly after midnight Saturday, September 30, when he was struck by a car on Hwy. 90 West near Tina's Cafe.

Manuel Reyes, 59, was walking East along the highway, when he apparently suddenly veered into the path of an automobile driven by Joe Torres, also of Hondo. Torres was also travelling East.

Reyes was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Harold Herring. He died instantly in the mishap. The death was ruled accidental.

Registration of visitors will be provided; and donations will be taken up for the preservation and restoration of Old St. Dominic's Church. Visitors may bring their lunches and eat in the Parish Hall or under the pecan trees after the ceremonies.

This is the first open-air field Mass to be held at the ruins of Old St. Dominic's Church, and it is hoped to make this an annual affair--next year it will be the 126th anniversary. Old D'Hanis is as old as the first diocese in the State of Texas, and that being the Diocese of Houston-Galveston, St. Dominic's Parish belonged to the Houston-Galveston Diocese from the very beginning until the San Antonio diocese took over in 1864.

This week

All she wrote

by Edna McDade

While Texas joined the USA's 3-day holiday observance of Columbus Day on Monday of this week, our neighbors in Mexico are celebrating today, Thursday 12th, as Dia de la Raza, on the theory that Cristobal Columbus-Colon's arrival in the Western Hemisphere on this date 480 years ago placed in statistical orbit the Hispano-Indio forefathers of the Mexican race.

What poor old Cris might have had to say about having his 1492 discovery updated three days we'll never know.

Another juggled date is Monday, Oct. 23, henceforth to be known as Veteran's Day. Perhaps because I remember so vividly Nov. 11, 1918 as Armistice Day (and still have a hard time calling it anything else) I can't work up any enthusiasm about transplanting it in our Nation's history.

When I find myself in such a mood, I reread Phyllis Battelle's appealing "Prayer for a Middle-aged Woman going on 106" which I enjoy daily although I'm admittedly well past middle-aged.

These are favorite lines: "I'm nostalgic, I'm square, I'm too old to start booing/ This country-regardless of what she is doing/ At home and away but make me recall/ That youth has its rights and we can't win 'em all . . . / Teach me to live in the Now - not the Then . . ."

Registration time is now over for every "voter and votress" and I hope Medina Countians broke last year's record of 8,639 set at run-off time.

My for-or-against this time in the general election can be recognized as one more in the Nueces County grand total on Nov. 7 than it would have had if I hadn't transferred my civic allegiance to this area as of June 27th.

"Votress" I found in a pre-election news story with an eastern city dateline. What price Women's Lib?

Hondo has lost one more citizen statistic and the Drs. DUTY have lost a staff member who made a (correction-hundreds of) lasting impressions on me while I was trying to find out what kept me up to scratch.

ANNE P. SPIKER will continue her professional lab work in Fort Collins, Colorado, and many Hondoans will miss her. Meantime, during this school term, TERRI is grandmother-sitting MARTHA PICKTHALL, since her younger granddaughter, YOLANDA, recently moved to Uvalde with her parents.

Like the poem says, Martha, "We can't win 'em all!"

Hondo FFAs are to be congratulated on knowing how to pick the prettiest girls for sweethearts. The 1972 choice, MELISSA MUENNINK, attests to the truth of this statement.

But, only a little while ago she was a little girl--and I'll bet she wouldn't trade places!

Just three blocks down the street from our house is Cullen Mall, which includes in its complex one of CC's newest and largest HEB Food Stores.

Thirty-three years ago, The HONDO ANVIL HERALD of July 7, 1939, included a news story of the South Texas Press Association's convention held in San Antonio.

HOWARD E. BUTT, founder of the HEB chain, credited newspaper advertising for its success and this is what he said, in part, in a speech on that occasion:

"Smart grocers build their merchandising plan around newspaper advertising. . . . An analysis of changes in food distribution in Texas reveals that the companies which have grown in leadership through aggressive merchandising policies are, without exception, large advertisers in the newspapers. . . . Advertising awakes competition, lowers prices, makes us do a better job, and brings progress to the individual and to industry. . . . Many a grocer has folded because he didn't have an open mind on the necessity for consistent advertising."

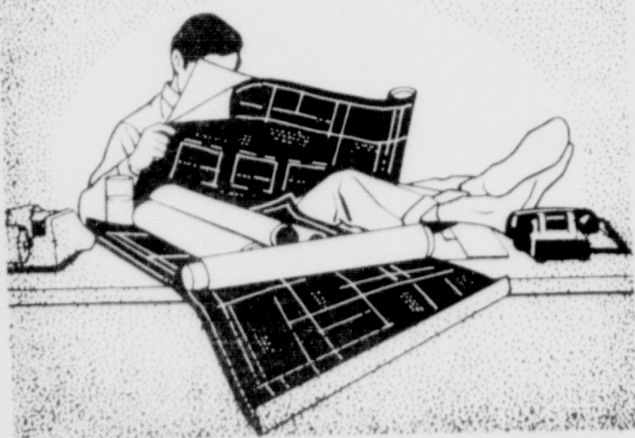

The moral is self-evident. (Mr. Butt didn't say this in his speech. This is one of those uncited opinions-of-the-writer.)

When tasks at hand seem too big to handle, I find some comfort in two quotations which I found recently:

"After all, how do you eat an elephant? A bite at a time!" -- Robert E. Kling, Jr. Supt. of Documents, Govt. Printing Office.

And, speaking of the relief to be gained from change, Washington Irving said: "I have found in traveling in a stagecoach, that it is a comfort to shift one's position and be bruised in a new place."

PORTABLE EKG-COMPUTER TERMINAL

... Nurse Linda Smith and John Hare display the portable EKG unit, which is totally contained in shopping cart-size machine in foreground. Equipment in background is other hospital electronic instruments.

Chicago computer reads Hondo's heart beats

Medina Memorial Hospital has acquired the combined talents of eight of America's best cardiologists to assist in analyzing its electrocardiograms.

They are on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and can return their analysis within three minutes after the information is received. If it sounds fantastic, it is. But it's also true.

The hospital recently ordered a complex, yet fully automated computerized electrocardiogram machine. The machine first reads the heartbeat of the patient, printing the traditional zig-zag lines for the attending doctor to read.

But at the same time, and most importantly, it is sending via telephone lines the same information to a Chicago-based computer.

There, the information is read and analyzed according to computer programs supervised by eight top-notch cardiologists to match and compare each particular EKG with thousands of others, and with tens of thousands of possible indicators.

After the reading is complete, the computer digests the material, and sends the readings and an analysis back to the hospital, where it is received in plain English on a teletype machine. The whole process takes little more than three minutes.

John Hare of Telemed Corporation in Chicago was at the hospital Friday, September 29, to supervise the installation of the new instrument.

"There's even a doctor up north who takes the unit on house calls, in a kind of camper truck."

Hare revealed that in the two years since the system was put into action, more than 220 installations have been set up, from Ket West to Maine, and from San Diego, California to Seattle.

Units are also in operation at this time in New Braunfels, and in Fredericksburg, where a new unit has just been installed.

"The English have been studying our system also. They plan to send their readings by trans-Atlantic telephone, via satellite," Hare went on.

Asked how the computer's opinion generally compared with that of a doctor in person, Hare claimed that in a sample of doctors taken, there was more agreement between each doctor and the computer than there was among the doctors themselves.

"If there is any doubt on the part of the physician, we can arrange to have a Chicago cardiologist re-study the EKG personally and issue an opinion within 24 hours," Hare explained.

"Reading meaning into the lines of an EKG is still more of an art than a science, and judgments must be made sometimes when interpreting the results."

The instrument is manufactured for Telemed Corp. by Marquette Electronics of Milwaukee, and is the most up-to-date equipment available.

Medina Memorial Hospital pays a flat fee to lease, rather than buy, the equipment. That way, when new modifications or improvements are available, they are installed free of charge by Telemed.

The computer while taking the EKG, is simultaneously monitoring patient, phone lines, and the machine itself for malfunctions. If one occurs (such as the patient suddenly sitting up, interrupting the reading), the computer simply hangs up. Twenty seconds later, upon identifying and fixing the malfunction, a new reading can be taken.

For patients with pacemakers to artificially stimulate their heartbeat, the machine has a special capacity to adjust its readings to that situation.

To operate the machine, a group of ten sensors are attached to the body, either with rubber bands or suction cups; two to the legs, two to the arms, and six more on the chest.

Then, the patient is identified to the computer by age, height in inches, weight, and an identification number of some sort (some use Social Security, some a hospital I.D.).

The machine is then turned on and checked. A simple push of a button automatically dials the Chicago computer long distance.

Then, following approval of the information given it, the computer automatically reads the EKG, just as the doctor or nurse reads it.

There is a twelve-second test period, after which the computer hangs up, and starts analyzing.

D'Hanis celebrates Century and a Quarter of history

by Josie Finger

The year 1972 marks the 125th anniversary of D'Hanis. During these days of its venerable old age the oft-repeated story of its origin may bear another re-telling.

We therefore go back to the first half of the nineteenth century when a Jewish-French empresario, Henri Castro by name, was granted a tract of land west of the Medina River by the Republic of Texas and, according to his contract, was to introduce a colony of 600 families to colonize this wide and unpopulated area.

During the winter of 1846-1847 a surveying party led by the artist Gentilz went out to stake the family lots for the future citizens of D'Hanis. These soon followed, among the first being Jean Batot and his nine-year-old son Christian, laden with provisions, bedding, and tools. The site of the village-to-be was a high prairie about two miles east of Rio Seco on the banks of a running stream now known as Parkers Creek. All that spring other groups continued to arrive until they numbered twenty-nine families, far short of Castro's expectations.

Approximately one-hundred of Castro's one-thousand colonists were the pioneers of the town. Most of them were Alsaticans, each name betraying either a German or a French ancestry. Here is the roll of names as remembered fifty years later by Christian Batot: Bell, Deckert, Echtle, French, Finger, Grossenbacher, Hagemuller, Kauffman, Karrer, Ludwig, Marrell, Nehr, Ney, Riedemann, Rissmann, Rudinger, Schreiber, Schuhmacher, Strausser, Wipff, Woelker, and the first of them all--Batot.

The day the last families arrived was one never to be forgotten in the annals of D'Hanis. It was on that day that Comanche Indians calmly rode into the settlement and robbed the homes of all the food they could find. They were hardly gone when a messenger came for help for a family stranded with worn-out draught animals on the trail from Castroville. But more perilous was the fact that a daughter was dangerously ill in one of the wagons. Help went out from the village and near midnight when the family entered the site of their new home, their child breathed her last. The first funeral of D'Hanis took place where today her tombstone in St. Dominic Cemetery is inscribed with the story of this young daughter of the Rudinger family. The date was given as May 25, 1847.

In spite of obstacles, the settlers always set to work at once upon arrival to establish themselves in the new land. Each married man in the colony had been assigned 640 acres of land and a town lot; a single man received 320. Although settlers had promised Castro in writing to convey to him one-half of the land received, each had enough to do to cultivate fifteen acres as well as to erect a suitable home. These were the conditions which would eventually qualify him to receive a deed to his land.

Building a home, however, presented a serious problem, for there was very little building material at hand in this vast landscape of grass. In the valley of the Seco some miles distant the colonists cut down small mesquite trees and conveyed the logs to the township along the Parkers where they built crude shelters with walls of pickets, roofs of thatch, and floors of pounded dirt. The charming French rock homes of Old D'Hanis came only decades later.

Most of the original families, if not all of them, were of the Catholic faith, and one of their first enterprises was to erect a crude little church in the center of their village, ready for religious services conducted by priests who occasionally came from Castroville. Five other edifices have been built for divine worship in D'Hanis during its history.

As the hostility of Indians increased, it became necessary to protect settlers from their raids. At times a troop of Texas Rangers would camp in the vicinity for this purpose. After the War with Mexico, the United States established a line of army posts along the border of Indian country for the same reason. Fort Lincoln was activated in July 1849 on the banks of Rio Seco northwest of Old D'Hanis; it afforded the first protection for the village, while at the same time guarding '49ers on their way to West. As new settlements grew up west of D'Hanis, Fort Lincoln was abandoned in 1851, but not before it had contributed to the safety and economy of the people by driving away marauding tribes and by furnishing work for the settlers. Indian attacks did not cease entirely until after 1876.

From the earliest days the people of D'Hanis provided as best they could for the education of their children, priests and laymen at first sharing the task of instruction, which was conducted both in homes of the community and in the log church.

In 1870 two Sister of Divine Providence from the convent at Castroville came out to teach the children of D'Hanis but discontinued the project after a few years. However, in 1883 they reopened their school at St. Dominic's and the parish provided them with a two-story rock building commodious for that era. Other schools were operated, one in the Seco settlement near the site of Fort Lincoln and another as the State public school at Old D'Hanis.

When a stage line was established between San Antonio and the Mexican border, D'Hanis became a stage stop. As a consequence there was an inn with a huge corral for horses; other business establishments included mercantile stores, saloons, a grain mill -- all of which apparently did a thriving business.

The coming of the railroad in 1881 initiated crucial changes, especially when the loading station was built, not at Old D'Hanis, but more than a mile to the west. This location became the nucleus of a new settlement and eventually became the business center of a transplanted town.

In 1908 St. Anthony's School here replaced the old St. Dominic's, and in 1910 a new modern public-school building was erected midway the two settlements. By 1915 St. Dominic's Church had been discontinued in favor of the new Holy Cross Church, an imposing brick edifice in the now established "new" D'Hanis.

Today D'Hanis boasts a bank, a brick factory, mercantile and other business places. Civic improvements such as street lights, water works, and fire department are administered by a very active Lions Club. Busy State Highway 90 runs through the town and contributes to its economy. Agriculture has continued to be from the earliest times the leading industry in this area which counts as an asset its location in the heart of deer-hunting country.

For the information of the many tourists who visit especially Old D'Hanis, several historical markers are explanatory; there are two Texas Centennial markers, one at the site of Fort Lincoln two miles north of the town on FM 1796 and another on the Old D'Hanis church grounds where also is a newly erected Texas State historical site marker for the ruins of St. Dominic's Church and adjoining cemetery. The unveiling of this latest marker will be a feature attraction at the observance of the 125th anniversary of D'Hanis.

Telephone science program to enthrall Hondo Lions

Dial a telephone with your voice?

That's one of the many new developments coming in tomorrow's telephone industry, according to Roy Wickerham, science demonstrator for Southwestern Bell.

Wickerham will present a new telephone science demonstration, entitled "From Beryllium to Vanadium, by Way of Krypton", to McDowell Independent School students Wednesday at 9 a. m. in the Auditorium. He will also present it to members of the Hondo Lions Club noon Wednesday at the Armstrong Hotel.

The program shows how Bell System scientists and engineers have developed and improved the telephone industry through scientific research over the years.

"Wickerham will demonstrate a new voice controlled dialer now being developed by the Bell System which will enable persons to dial phone calls by speaking the number into the instrument," said Brad Carroll, Southwestern Bell manager for Hondo.

Carroll said the program also includes Bell System innovations such as solar cells which were developed to operate today's communications space satellites, and may be used as important power sources for automobiles and appliances in the future.

"On Your Doorstep" can mean pleasurable enjoyment when it refers to a friendly visitor, but when it means drug abuse it can be tragic. And in the past few years millions of unsuspecting Americans have literally found drugs "on their doorstep", brought there by their children, a friend or a neighbor, or a total stranger.

It has happened; it is happening; and it will continue to happen in Hondo and Medina County. That is what brought about the showing of a film on drug abuse in Hondo, Monday, October 23. Scheduled for the Raye Theater at 7:30 p. m. on that date, the film features Art Linkletter, who shares with all who are interested his complete knowledge of the total drug misuse problem. This film, sponsored through the efforts of the Hondo Police Department, has received the highest acclaim from educators, government officials, law enforcement agencies. It is thorough. It is exhaustive. It is understandable. "Best of all," says Chief

Jerry Williamson, "It can be put to work in our community today."

Chief Williamson urged every parent and all young adults, high school age upward, to see this film.

The film stems from an initiative launched by the Aid Association for Lutherans to combat the growing problem of drug abuse in America.

President Nixon has called this problem, "Public Enemy Number One", and says his Administration will continue to do all in its power, both at home and abroad, to arrest the flow of narcotics and other dangerous drugs to this country; and to educate, treat and rehabilitate narcotics victims.

"In this endeavor," the President said, "we are relying heavily on effective and intelligent community response by civic groups and private individuals."

John Daltman of San Antonio will present and introduce the film which will be shown at no cost to the public.

"Present plans," Chief Williamson said, "call for this film for young adults and older parents, then after the first of January present one that will fit the understanding of younger children."

GED classes will begin next week

Due to the enrollment of 36 persons, two adult education classes will get underway at Hondo High School next week.

Supt. Kenneth Flory said letters are now in the mail to those who have enrolled telling them which class section they will study in. One section will be Monday and Wednesday and the other will be Tuesday and Thursday. Both will be from 7 to 10 p. m.

Classes will be taught in the new north wing of the high school, and are the results of an effort of the Educational Sub-committee of the Medina County AACOG Committee.

Committee officials worked out the General Educational Development (GED) program with San Antonio College. Courses are offered by the Adult Distributive Education department of the college for adults who dropped out of school between the 9th and 12th grades.

Classes are designed to train adults to understand the GED material and obtain a high school diploma. Each GED class is 60 hours in length and covers instruction in Math, English and Expression. Students are paying $15 tuition and $9 for textbooks. Upon completion of the course students are prepared to take the GED test.

D'Hanis native heads Brownsville program

EDINBURG--Mario Moreno, planning coordinator of the Model Cities Agency of the City of Edinburg, has become the first director of the newly created Planning Department of the City of Brownsville.

Moreno, who heads a three man staff, began his new duties by coordinating previous planning efforts in the city. His first assignment will be to develop a housing and transportation plan for Brownsville. Moreno says that the transportation plan will attempt to resolve the city's off-street parking problems, proper street and traffic circulation and inter-city transportation needs.

The 25-year-old native of D'Hanis earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in economics and his Masters degree in urban and regional planning from Texas A&M University in College Station.

Moreno's first experience in planning was gleaned when he joined the Model Cities Agency as an Urban Fellow under the A&M University Fellowship Program. Upon receiving his Masters degree he returned to the Model Cities Agency to become Program Development Coordinator which position he held for one year before being promoted to Planning Coordinator.

Protected crossings get nod from Highway officials

Trains and other vehicles will stand less chance of colliding in Hondo, on two crossings anyway, with the installation of Railroad Crossing Protection on Avenue M and Castro Avenue.

And they definitely will be built, according to a letter Rep. John Poerner received last week from the Texas Highway Department.

The letter read: Dear Representative Poerner: Mr. Dingwall, in his letter of September 19, 1972, advised that the Highway Commission would consider two programs of work at their meeting on October 6 for the Protection of Railroad Grade Crossings.

I am happy to advise that the Highway Commission today approved both programs of work and both of the projects mentioned in Mr. Dingwall's letter were approved. These provide for improvement of Railroad Crossing Protection on Farm to Market Road 462 and Installation of Signals on Castro Avenue in Hondo.

I trust this will furnish the desired information.

Sincerely yours

Antlerless permits to be issued

Antlerless deer permits will again be issued in Medina County for 1972, according to August Timmerman of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Dates permits will be issued at the Courthouse in Hondo include October 24-26-27. "Rate of issue will be posted on a map in the Courthouse at a later date," Timmerman said.

Feed early to attract game

It looks like deer season will not bring the bountiful crop of animals this year that could normally be expected from a year of mild temperatures and plentiful rains.

The reason? Screwworms.

According to an article in the September 7 Corpus Christi "Caller Times" by Roy Swann, observers in both brush country and Rio Grande Valley say the fawn crop is down because of screw-worms.

Several game wardens in the Valley confirmed the reports, and admitted that not one of them had yet seen a fawn. Biologists there say the same thing. Screwworm flies seem to torment deer as much as they do cattle, and this year has seen the worst infestation in ten years.

On the plus side for this fall, the food supply looks good this year. The natural cover due to spring and summer rains means the game animals will be slower to forsake natural food for the hunter's feeders.

Terry Brooner, a leader in establishing automatic feeders in Texas, says most ranchers and hunters have learned to feed at least a month or more before the start of the season, to accustom the game to the feeder schedule.

With good food conditions, also, it takes time to get the game to leave their grazing for the grain of the feeder.

Even so, feeding seems to have worked very well. In one Valley location, after turkeys discovered feeders and became accustomed to using them, humans in the area--even while talking or working--failed to deter the turkeys.

So, the moral. Start feeding early, and set up a schedule, to attract deer and turkey to your blind when season starts next month.

Hunters whose names were drawn last year will not be eligible this year unless permit quotas go unfilled.

One of the last year's more popular areas, the Black Gap Area, will be closed to deer hunting this fall.

Hunters selected in the Oct. 27 drawing will be notified by the department during the first week of November.

SPEAKER--A. L. Hoermann, Area Livestock Specialist, will be the speaker for the final session of the Beef Cattle Short Course on Wednesday evening, October 18. This three session course has been well attended according to County Agent Glenn Bragg.

Wildlife, game hunting program set for Tuesday

Medina County area sportsmen and hunters will be treated to a program on Wildlife and Game Hunting in Hondo on Tuesday evening October 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Hondo High School Auditorium.

the Southwest Texas Area.

Also featured will be Preston Gomert, game management official for the Parks and Wildlife Department from LaCoste, who will speak on gun safety.

Cowboys lose thriller, 23-21

The D'Hanis Cowboys' luck ran out just before the clock did in a hard-fought game with the Brackettville Tigers, played in Brackettville. D'Hanis had a victory in the bag until a field goal with four seconds remaining in the game gave Brackettville a 23-21 win last Friday night.

The Cowboys took an early lead as Bobby Joe Rothe ran for the first touchdown in the opening period and Spencer Burrell added another before the quarter ended.

Rothe's run covered the last eight yards of a sustained drive and Burrell's kick was good.

Burrell's score came on a 70-yard run over guard. His second kick made the score 14-0.

But Tiger quarterback Joe Rose connected with his end Douglas Ward, who went 11 yards for the first Brackettville touchdown late in the first quarter. The point after try was good, and the score stood 14-7.

D'Hanis countered with a third touchdown before halftime, as Burrell hit Fidencio Garcia for a 23-yard scoring pass. Burrell added what could have been the winning margin on his extra point kick, and D'Hanis led 21-7.

Before the half was over, Rose again connected for a touchdown pass, this time to Eddie Solis. With the kick, the score stood D'Hanis 21, Brackettville 14.

Rose added the final Brackettville touchdown late in the second quarter as he kept the ball for a three-yard plunge. This time, the extra point kick was no good, and the Cowboys held onto a one-point lead, 21-20.

The second half saw no further scoring until the final play of the game when Ricky Goodlee kicked a 23-yard field goal to provide the winning margin for the Tigers.

Saturday night at 8 p.m., D'Hanis will meet the Yellowjackets from San Antonio's St. Anthony's Seminary.

The Jackets are picked to win their 4-AA district in the Texas Catholic Interscholastic League with seventeen starters returning from last year's team that went 6-4. They have All State guard Mike Cantu among that crew.

D'Hanis last defeated St. Anthony's two years ago in a 20-13 game at D'Hanis. Last year, the Jackets turned the tables on the Cowboys, beating them 36-7.

COWGIRLS ENTERTAIN

The D'Hanis Cowgirls keep fans entertained at halftime at Bandera.

Second half 'rally' gives Owls 47-0 win

The margin of victory was provided for Hondo Friday night on the Cotulla Cowboys' eighth play from scrimmage, but the Owls rolled onward for 45 insurance points behind the scoring runs of Keith Ligon and Mark Buescher along with Jeff Hilsher's interception-touchdown.

With 5:10 remaining in the first quarter, Cotulla was backed up to their two-yard line for their third possession of the game, following two punts. First down saw a penalty against the Cowboys, moving the ball back another yard. On the next play, Gregg Buescher hauled down Cowboy back Rene Benavidez in the end zone for a safety.

The remainder of that quarter, and the second quarter also, were typified by Owl miscues and a stubborn Cotulla defense.

After three lost fumbles and two interceptions, the Owls were running out of time in the half, with less than a minute left.

At this point, Duane McCartney, subbing for injured Brian Finger, fired a pass to Kebo Ligon that was good for 40 yards, down to the Cowboys' 5-yard line. From there, Ligon took it in on his next carry, and with McAnelly's kick the score stood 9-0 with 47 seconds left, and the Owls took this score to the fieldhouse for the halftime.

The second half was Hondo's turn to recover fumbles and pick off passes, as the Owls grabbed one of each from the Cowboys.

The Cowboys opened the half with a surprise onside kickoff, which they recovered at the Hondo 45. However, three plays later Benavidez fumbled and the Owls took over.

Ligon scored on a one-yard plunge after his two carries from 24 yards out brought the ball to the Cowboy 1. Tony Hackebell also contributed 22 yards in three carries on the drive that began at the Owl 44.

Again, McAnelly's kick was good, and with 6:43 in the 3rd quarter, it was Hondo 16, Cotulla 0. Hondo was to score on every possession from then until the game ended.

The next score came after a series of short yardage runs by Ligon, Bobby Cox, and Hackebell, ending in a 10-yard romp by Kebo around left end with 40 seconds left in the 3rd quarter. The point-after was no good, and the score stood 22-0.

The following scoring opportunity came after McCartney hit Ray Garcia for about 29 yards, down to the Cowboy 15. After Hackebell took 4 yards off the remainder, Ligon wrapped up the final eleven yards over tackle. Once again, the point was no good, and with 9:41 in the game, Hondo led 28-0.

With the next possession after a Cowboy fumble (caused by Ted Mendoza, Gregg Buescher, Juan Campos and Fred Bader) gave the Owls the ball on Cotulla's 21-yard line, Mark Buescher made his belated debut as a running back. He did well, too, scoring from a yard out on his second carry. Finger's try at point-kicking was no better than McAnelly's had been, and the Owls led by 34-0 with 7:24 in the ball game.

Cotulla took the kickoff, but couldn't return it past the 16, thanks to good coverage by Pat Stein, Willie Geuea and Eddie Pope.

The first play from scrimmage resulted in another Cotulla fumble, and a recovery by Mike Hilberling of the Owls. This time it took four tries before Ligon crossed the line from eight yards out.

Finger's toe was improving, and with the extra point, Hondo led 41-0.

The final insult to the Cowboys was still to come, however.

Taking the kickoff on their own 43, the Cowboys tried to run, but Pope and Saathoff held Vernon Brown to no gain. Going to the air, new Cowboy quarterback John Brennan hit Hondo's Jeff Hilsher, who returned the ball 43 yards to the final Owl touchdown. Finger's kick was again wide, and with 5:11 in the game, Hondo had run up a 47-0 margin.

Medina Valley Panthers

For the first time this year, a real District 28-AA title contender comes into Barry Field. Suddenly, all the wins so far (except Cotulla) lose their meaning, for this is the real thing. The Panthers of Medina Valley bring a wealth of talent and tradition with them this year. Since their strong finish last season which gave them a respectable 7-3 year, the Angry Orange have kept up their momentum, standing undefeated after wins over Judson, New Braunfels Canyon, Boerne and Southwest High Schools.

They have had a welcome breathing space last week to recuperate from old wounds, and study the district foes in depth.

Big linemen dot the Panther lineup, including 190-pound Mark Stein, Donald Mechler at 195, David Suehs at 190, and Dennis Nickel at 180.

Signal caller Glynn Tschirhart brings size and experience to the quarterback position, as a 170-pound senior.

Tschirhart has a talented end in Gilbert Espino, who caught three of four touchdowns passes in the Panthers' last game against Southwest. Running backs are no hardship this year, either; experience again and quickness and speed characterize Armando Pimentel, Joe Salinas, and David Blume. Depth here is provided by juniors Joel Kempf, Joey Wieblen and Senior Timmy Beck.

They're well endowed with personnel and they will be playing their best against the Owls Friday night.

Meat need told for Game Dinner

Meat needs for the annual Wild Game Dinner sponsored by the Hondo Chamber of Commerce have been told by President Bud Woolls. "We need all types of meat for this event which annually feeds some 900 persons," Woolls said. So he has appointed chairmen to take charge of accumulation of the various types of meat needed. They include: Venison--Tom Hollings; Fish--Dr. Tom Tompkins; Rattlesnake--Larry Winkler; Armadillos--Greg Marshall; Javelinas--Larry Oeffinger; Wild Sheep--Russell Chapman; Wild Goats

--Bob McGarity; Moose--Dr. John Jennings. "Anyone who kills any of these animals are urged to get in touch with the respective chairman," Woolls said. "We need to begin accumulating meat for the November 25 event. That's why we are shouting 'HELP' now."

DON'T TAKE RURAL TEXANS FOR A RIDE...

...AND DON'T TAKE US FOR GRANTED.

HERE'S WHAT NIXON IS DOING TO RURAL AMERICA

WHEAT SCANDAL - Giant wheat exporters made huge profits at the expense of individual wheat farmers, many in Texas, on Soviet trade.

TAXES - Wall Street Journal says federal laws favor the corporation or investor who farms on the side for a tax write-off.

FARM ISSUES - Under Nixon, parity dropped the lowest since 1933. Nixon held up payments of nearly $400 million for feed grains in 1970, forcing farmers to borrow at highest interest rates in history.

CONGLOMERATE SCANDALS - Big Business first, the public second - that's the Republican philosophy. Anti-trust suit against ITT dropped at the same time ITT pledged $400,000 to finance Republican Convention.

Harry S. Truman said, 'The Republicans admire our government so much they want to buy it.'

Let's face it. The Republicans just haven't changed much since the days of our grandfathers. They still favor Big Business over the average working man and woman. And while they're taking us for a ride, they keep telling us what a 'dangerous radical' Senator McGovern is.

That's what they said about Harry S. Truman.

HERE'S WHAT McGOVERN IS DOING FOR RURAL AMERICA

HIS STANDING - George McGovern has been elected time and again as a Democrat from a Republican farm state . . . because they know where he stands.

TAXES - His tax proposal would end the loopholes for tax-loss farming by giant corporations and the wealthy individuals who compete unfairly with family farmers. McGovern's proposal calls for the same tax on capital gains as on earnings.

FARM ISSUES - He sponsored and co-sponsored: Meat Import Limitation Law; Dairy Import Act; Wheat, Feed Grain, and Soybean Emergency Reserve Bill; Rural Development, Rural Job Development, and Rural Telephone Acts; Farm Credit Act; and other pieces of important legislation.

HIS BELIEFS - George McGovern knows that the answers to many of our most pressing problems in America today can be found by developing genuine opportunities for everyone in our small towns and rural areas throughout the country.

Let's not be taken for granted by the Nixon Republicans. Rural America has always fared best under a Democratic administration. If you want to stand up and do something good for rural America, the answer is to help put a Democrat in the White House. We need George McGovern . . . and George McGovern needs us.

RURAL TEXANS NEED A DEMOCRAT.

RURAL TEXANS NEED McGOVERN

Helping and learning

This group of Hondo High School students are learning the Buildings Trade right now by helping someone in need. Recent efforts by members of St. John's Catholic Church and headed by Father Emmett Carolan raised funds to purchase this house for Mrs. Andrea Salazar and her nine children. Now under the direction of instructor Jack Heath, the Buildings

This is another group of the Hondo High School Buildings Trades class that is helping put a new house in shape for Mrs. Andrea Salazar and her nine children. The Salazar housing fund has been promoted through the efforts of Father Emmett Carolan of St. John's Catholic Church. Pictured here are Juan Campos, Eddie Rios, Armando Frausto, Robert Alvarez, David Benavides, Joe Soliz, Rudy Cortinaz, Jerry Garcia, Paul Gonzales and Dayle Rihn. (Photo by Tony Mendoza)

Fillingers home from tour

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fillinger returned home last week from a 15-day vacation tour which took them through twelve states and into Canada.

Near Dodge City, Kansas they passed the Longhorn Cattle being trailed from San Antonio to Dodge City along the Chisholm Trail route. They visited Historic Front Street and Boot Hill. Buffalo Bill's Scout's Rest Ranch and State Historical Park were seen in Nebraska. As they entered Mission, South Dakota they saw a sign along the highway almost like our Hondo Sign. The South Dakota sign reads: "This is God's Country, Don't Drive Thru It Like Hell". In South Dakota, North Dakota and into Canada they viewed wheat fields farmed on rolling hills.

In Eastavan, Canada they attended Sunday Mass at St. John the Baptist Catholic Church. They note the only noticeable difference was people came early in order to get front pews. In Montana they crossed the Beartooth snowcapped mountains--elevation 11,772 feet. Two days were spent in Yellowstone National Park where they saw our First Lady, Pat Nixon, at the Old Faithful Inn. Mrs. Nixon was present for the Rededication of the 100th Anniversary of the Park. Snow fell while they were at the park. The Mormon Tabernacle and Visitor's Center were toured at Salt Lake City, Utah.

In Las Vegas, Nevada they saw the downtown Casino Center and the Fabulous 8-mile Strip. Hoover Dam at Boulder City, Grand Canyon National Park in Arizona and Ruidoso Downs and "Valley of Fires" in New Mexico as well as White Sands at Alamogordo, New Mexico were among highlights of the trip. En route home they visited the Richard Zerr family at Marathon.

Tree killed Joseph Zuercher

"Here rests with God Joseph Zuercher, born August 13, 1815; died July 4, 1860." The German epitaph is on an old, hand-carved tombstone in St. Dominic's Cemetery, D'Hanis, which will be honored with a Historical Marker Sunday in 10 a.m. ceremonies. Incidentally, Zuercher died after a tree fell, crushing his leg. The tree on his tombstone commemorates the way he died.

Amn. Ramirez completes basic

SAN ANTONIO--Airman Antonio Ramirez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Ramirez of 1505 27th St., Hondo, has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's

Lackland AFB, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Keesler for specialized training in the administrative field.

He will begin that training this month as the Air Force is celebrating its 25th anniversary.

Airman Ramirez is a 1972 graduate of Hondo High School.

County committee reviews emergency loan program

Rothe Martin, Chairman of the Medina FHA County Committee, recently reviewed the Emergency Loan Program available to farmers and ranchers through Farmers Home Administration. The County Committee is composed of three local farmers, ranchers, or businessmen. Presently serving in addition to Martin are James Jordan and Richard W. Schweers of Hondo.

Emergency loans are available to farmers or ranchers who have suffered losses due to a natural disaster, such as excessive rainfall, floods, hail, drought, and plant and animal diseases or insects where abnormal weather conditions contributed to the spreading and flourishing of such diseases or insects.

To be eligible for an Emergency loan an applicant must be: (1) a United States Citizen, (2) an established farmer or rancher who has had property or crop losses caused by a natural disaster, (3) of good character and with the industry, ability, and experience to carry out his plans, farming or ranching operations, (4) in need of credit, (5) the manager of his farming and ranching operation. The ability to obtain credit from other sources does not disqualify an applicant from obtaining an Emergency loan. Emergency loans are made primarily for expenses essential to continuing normal farming or ranching programs. Loans are generally secured by a first lien on crops and the best lien obtainable on farm equipment.

Empty Stocking

The Empty Stocking Committee was delightedly surprised with three early donations. We can really plan so much better when we know what we have to work with.

Thanks for early donations from Mrs. E. W. (Sally) Brucks, Methodist Wesleyan Guild and Anonymous.
